

Lead Well workshop - Feb. 17-18 - Irving, TX

The health and growth of all organizations rises and falls on leadership.

Leadership is the determining factor influencing the health and growth of every organization.

Organizations can increase their leadership quotient by:

- Increasing the effectiveness of existing leaders.
- Increasing the quantity of leaders by identifying, training and empowering new leaders.

Fifteen year ago I developed a leadership development curriculum that has been taught to thousands of leaders in diverse industries including technology, medical, non-profit, and financial services.

Lead Well offers leadership training and resources to organizations and individuals in all industries. Our propriety curriculum focuses on 12 indispensable leadership skills - six hard skills (what a leader does) and six soft silks (who a leader is). The training provides a thorough and systematic approach to leadership development.

The first workshop of 2016 will be held February 17&18 in Irving, TX. We'll meet both days from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Click here for a summary of the curriculum.

Go to learntoleadwell.com to take a free, leadership skills assessment tool and to learn more about the workshop.

For more information and registration contact don@donmcminn.com